GUATEMALA – DAVID SOLANO– –

Guatemala • Chimaltenango • San Martin Jilotepeque

ABOUT THIS COFFEE

Finca Concepción Buena Vista is located in San Martín Jilotepeque, in the Chimaltenango mountains, at approximately 1,800 meters above sea level. The Solano family has historically committed to the Red Bourbon variety — a decision made by the previous generation and continued today by David and his brother Eddy, who lead the project together.
David Solano represents a new generation of Guatemalan producers, capable of combining family tradition, technical expertise, and a deep culture of experimentation. Far from breaking with the farm's legacy, his approach seeks instead to explore new fermentation possibilities while preserving the elegance, structure, and unique identity inherent to Guatemalan coffees.
David is widely recognized on the Guatemalan specialty coffee scene. After winning the Guatemalan National Barista Championship in 2018 and representing his country on the world stage, he returned to the farm with a clear vision: to prove that Guatemala could be a leader not only in traditional quality but also in innovation and process development.
